EDITORIAL NOTES.

Great Britain and Ireland have 22,000 lawyers, which is one to every 3,000 people in those countries, while the legal luminaries of the United States and its possessions aggregate 65,000, or one to every 800 inhabitants. Nevada City boasts that it has one lawyer for every 480 of its inhabitants, but Reno can do better than that. We have 16 lawyers in town, which gives one to each 114 of its population.

By the laws of Denmark a drunken person unable to walk is taken to the station or his home in a close carriage at the expense of the house that sold him his liquor. This is an improvement on the American plan of clubbing the man on the feet till he gets up, and then pounding him on the head all the way to the station house, and making him pay for the club if it breaks.

Denis Kearney, in his last San Lot speech, says: "It strikes me very forcibly about this time that the people, the unbought and unpurchasable masses, are pretty well convinced that turning the Republicans out and putting the Democrats in did not bring them any relief."

San Francisco butchers hold that the best beef that comes to their market is raised in the State of Nevada, and are willing to pay a higher price than for any other cattle. Nevada is both a cattle raising and mining State.

An Affair France Will not Dispose of Meadly.

LONDON, May 28.
 A Times correspondent at Paris says the country is thoroughly aroused concerning the Tonquin trouble. It is felt that the time for reflection is past and the only course for France is to act vigorously and above all things swiftly. The latest news from China is that 60,000 troops are under arms. European troops have already arrived at the Tonquin frontier. The feeling throughout China is intensely hostile to the French.

Oscar Wilde Drops the Esthetic Dodge.

LONDON, May 28.
 Oscar Wilde seems to be played out as an esthetic problem. He worked the art dodge in America for all it was worth and has now abandoned it. He surprised his friends at a reception given by Mrs. Whistler, the artist, by appearing as an ordinary individual, dressed in a common-place suit and shorn of his beautiful locks. Even here he is regarded as crazy.

French Anarchists Display the Red Flag.

PARIS, May 27.
 Fifteen hundred persons joined in an anarchist demonstration to-day at the graves of Communists at Pere La Chaise. The red flag was displayed and the crowd raised frequent cries of "Vive la Commune!" Several speeches were made. Though many policemen were present nobody was arrested.

Irish Informers Get Paid for Their Treachery.

DUBLIN, May 28.
 Farrell, one of the informers in the trial of the Phoenix Park murderers, has received £1,000 from the Government and Michael Kavanagh, the carman, another informer, £250. Both will quit the country. James Carey and his brother will receive small sums for their services.

Another Phoenix Park Murderer Hanged.

THE CORONATION.

The Czar Crowned Emperor of All the Russias.

THE GRANDEST PAGEANT OF MODERN TIMES.

An Immense Concourse of People and Great Enthusiasm.

[PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.]

Moscow, May 27.

At 7 o'clock this morning the inauguration of the magnificent ceremony attendant upon the coronation of the Emperor and Empress of Russia was announced by the ringing of hundreds of bells and by the thunder of artillery. Even at that early hour the streets were thronged with people, visitors from abroad and from other parts of the Empire crowding the residents, and all striving to find eligible places from which to view the procession. During the entire night there was unusual activity on the streets, for not only were people there whose anxiety concerning interest in the coronation kept them awake, but strong guards of soldiers patrolled all parts of the city, giving the streets a very martial appearance. Great bodies of soldiers shortly before 6 were stationed along the route of the procession four miles in length and occupied the streets on either side, keeping the people on the walks. All unreserved spaces in the streets were speedily filled by eager sight-seers, while the windows, doorways and house-tops were let out at fabulous prices to visitors. The dignitaries of the realm who were to take part in the actual ceremony assembled according to a prearranged programme at the cathedral of the Holy Assumption within the walls of the Kremlin.

These functionaries entered the magnificent building at just 7:30 A. M. At about 8 there followed in order Princes of foreign governments, the nobility of Russia and other States of Europe, and special and regular ambassadors of foreign countries residing in Russia. The utmost care was exercised to prevent the admission of any unauthorized or improper person, except as he appeared at the entrance, being made to exhibit a carefully-prepared ticket, which was subjected to the closest scrutiny. This form was observed at the Kremlin and the Cathedral. At the request of General Von Schweinitz, ambassador from Germany, 80 members, comprising the diplomatic corps, assembled at his mansion and were conveyed thence to the Kremlin in superbly equipped coaches richly gilded as to their harness and coats-of-arms. The remainder of the diplomatic body, consisting of attaches of the various legations, were assigned positions in the Tribune just outside the Cathedral proper, but inside the enclosure of the Kremlin. When the white walls of that wondrous place inclosed all of the crowd that could be admitted, a choir of boys chanted a Te Deum and, amidst profound silence both outside and in the church, they, accompanied by acolytes bearing a cross and a ewer of holy water, proceeded to receive the Czarowitch. This solemn of royalty, who was in the midst of a brilliant cortege, took a place at the right hand of the throne. When the imperial procession started it was made known to those inside the cathedral by the ringing of bells, by music from scores of bands and by the shouts of those outside.

As the royal pair appeared at the doors of the palace the immense multitude uncovered their heads and burst into loud acclamations. The enthusiasm was spontaneous and hearty. At the head of the royal procession which now entered the Kremlin was the master of ceremonies, flanked by heralds richly clad and mounted on pure white horses. It was of immense length and comprised of deputies from Asiatic States of the Empire, students of the university, clergy, Judges, nobility and prefects from every section of the Empire. When its front rank reached the door of the palace it was met by the Emperor dressed in the white uniform of a colonel of the Imperial guard. The Empress was dressed in a costume of black velvet richly embroidered with diamonds and girdled with a magnificent belt of precious stones. She leaned on the arm of her royal consort, as the pair placed themselves beneath a canopy richly wrought in silk and gold and borne by 32 generals of high military rank. They then took their place near the head of the procession.

At this moment the entire body of clergy emerged from the cathedral in order to meet the regalia, which they publicly sprinkled with holy water and perfumed with incense. Upon entering the portals of the cathedral the Emperor and Empress were received by the Metropolitan of Moscow, the Metropolitans of Novogorod and Kieff, who presented them a cross to be kissed and sprinkled with holy water, first the Emperor and then the Empress. Before the sacred images which flanked the doors of the cathedral they knelt and bowed, after which they were conducted to their respective thrones of ivory and silver. Alexander occupied his throne of Czar Vladimir, while the Empress was seated in a chair, gilded all over. The dais was a canopy of scarlet velvet, suspended from the arched roof, embroidered with gold and lined with silver brocade, which was worked with the arms of Russia and all her dependencies in the most ingenious manner. In front of the thrones were two tables covered with gold cloth, upon which were placed the crowns, orb and scepter. None but foreign princes were accommodated with seats. Russian princes and dignitaries stood during the ceremony, according to the custom of the Greek Church. The dignitaries of the realm, who were carrying the standard and seals of the Empire, took a stand upon the steps of the dais.

After their majesties had been seated the Metropolitan of Novogorod asked the Emperor in a loud and distinct voice, "Are you a true believer?" The Emperor, falling on his knees, read in reply, in a clear voice, the Lord's Prayer and the Apostles' Creed of the Greek Church, the Metropolitan responding, "May the grace of the Holy Ghost remain with thee," and descended from the dais. The following customary summons was then three times repeated by the Bishop: "If there be any of you here present knowing any impediment for which Alexander, son of Alexander, should not be crowned by the grace of God Emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, of Moscow, of Kieff, of Vladimir, of Novogorod; Czar of Kazan, of Astrachan, of Poland, of Servia, of Kherson, Toureda, of Groust, Gossudar, of Pakoff; Grand Duke of Smolensk, of Lithuania, of Valzania, of Podolia and of Finland; Prince of Esthonia, of Livonia, of Courland, of Samoyedes, of Bieloostack, of Corelia, of Foer, of Ingor, of Perm, of Miatska, of Bulgaria, and of other countries; Master and Grand Duke of the lower countries in Novogorod, of Tchernigoff, of Riazan, of Polotsk, of Rosloff, of Jarosloff, of Bieloostack, of Oudouk, of Oudorsk, of Konduk, of Vitelsk, of Matlaff, and of all the countries of the north; Master Absolute of Wersk, of Kastaninsk, of Kabardinsk and of the territory of Armenia; Sovereign of the mountain Princes of Tcheriask; Master of Turkestan, her presumptive of Norway, Duke of Silesmarz, of Oldenburg, of Dithmarz, and of Oldenburg—let him come forward in the name of the Holy Trinity and show what the impediment is, or let him remain dumb forever."

After reading selections from the Gospel the Metropolitans of Novogorod and Kieff again ascended the dais and invested the Emperor with the imperial mantle of ermine, the Metropolitans of Moscow saying at the same time, "Cover and protect thy people as this robe protects and covers thee." The Emperor responded, "I will, I will, I will—God helping." The Metropolitan of Novogorod, crossing his hands on the head of the Emperor, invoked the benediction of Almighty God upon him and his reign, and delivered to Alexander Third the crown of Russia who placed it upon his own head, and assuming the scepter and orb, took his seat on the throne. He then returned the insignia of his title to the dignitaries appointed to receive them, and called the Empress, who knelt before him. He touched her head lightly with the crown of the Emperor and then formally crowned her with her own crown. The expression and attitude of the Empress as she knelt was one of sympathy with her royal husband, and touched deeply the audience. The Czar preserved throughout a grave and decorous dignity and nobleness of demeanor which also provoked the admiration of all.

After the Emperor had been duly invested with the Imperial mantle and their majesties were both seated on their thrones, the Arch-deacon intoned the Imperial titles. Directly this part of the ceremony was finished a salute of 100 guns was fired and the members of the imperial family tendered their congratulations to their majesties. The Emperor then knelt and recited a prayer, at the end of which the clergy and all knelt before the Emperor, when the Bishop of Moscow said aloud, in behalf of the nation, a fervent prayer for the happiness of their majesties. Shouts of "Long live the Emperor!" then rent the cathedral and were taken up by thousands outside and carried from mouth to mouth until that part of the multitude unable to get inside even the ample acreage of the Kremlin, caught the sound and waved it in a huge volume of human gratitude to the remotest part of the city, when it was speedily made known to all the world that another Czar of Russia had been crowned.

The cathedral choir then sang a Te Deum, after which the Emperor ungirded his sword, and accompanied by the Empress and numerous dignitaries, proceeded to the gate of the sanctuary, and there the Metropolitan of Novogorod announced the Emperor's forehead, eyelids, nostrils, lips, ears, breast and hands, at the same time exclaiming, "Behold the seal of the Holy Ghost! May it keep thee ever holy." The Empress was announced only on the forehead. Both partook of the sacrament and then left the cathedral, wearing their crowns and mantles, the Emperor also bearing the scepter and orb. After praying in the cathedral of Michael the Archangel, their majesties returned to the palace, escorted by the procession, which presented even a more splendid sight than that which escorted them to the cathedral, being now augmented by the state carriages of the Imperial family. Banners waved from all points of the Kremlin, and the whole route of the procession fairly glowed with bright draperies and hangings.

The Emperor re-entered the Palace by the celebrated red stair-case, whence the laws were anciently promulgated. There he turned and saluted the people, who immediately uncovered their heads, cheering enthusiastically and blessing the Czar. An imperial banquet began at 3:30 P. M. in the hall called Granovitr Palace. This hall was especially restored for the occasion and was splendidly decorated with cloth of gold. The Emperor and Empress, wearing their crowns, sat at separate tables on thrones of unequal height. Their majesties were served by distinguished nobles acting as cup-bearers, carvers, etc.

The first toast was "His Majesty, the Emperor," which was followed by a salute of 61 guns; next was "Her Majesty, the Empress," followed by 51 guns. The third was "The Imperial household," followed by 31 guns, and the fourth was "The clergy and all faithful subjects," followed by 21 guns. Foreign princes and diplomats present stood during the first course, and afterwards, in accordance with an ancient custom, withdrew to a separate repast. The weather was fine throughout the day, and everything passed off successfully. Silver tokens, in memory of the day, were distributed in 20 Moscow churches to-night. The Czar's manifesto was issued last evening, and is a document of very considerable length. Crowds besieged the printing office to obtain copies, the perusal of which caused great rejoicing. The Czar has addressed the following rescript to De Giers, Minister of Foreign Affairs: "The great power and glory acquired by Russia, thanks to a Divine Providence, the extent of her Empire and numerous population, leave no room for any idea of further conquests. My solicitude is exclusively devoted to the peaceable development of the country and its prosperity, to preserve friendly relations with foreign powers on the basis of existing treaties, and the maintenance of the dignity of the Empire. Having found in you a constant, zealous and useful collaborator for the promotion of these views in the direction of our international relations, I confer upon you my Order of St. Alexander Newski in diamonds as a testimony of my gratitude."

Before their majesties left the palace the route to the cathedral was sprinkled with holy water. A heavy rain fell before their majesties started, but just as they took their places under the canopy the sun shone brightly. In the cathedral it was noted that when the Czar knelt alone to utter a prayer of intercession his eyes filled with tears and he sobbed audibly. As he read, in making a profession of faith, the Czar's voice was grandly resonant. The Metropolitan of Novogorod almost broke down in delivering his allocution. Mounted Cossacks patrolled every street, troops lining the route of the procession, which remained bare-headed the whole morning. Persons unable to obtain admission to the Kremlin remained outside on their knees close to the walls during the most part of the day, praying for the Czar. A correspondent who has witnessed the greatest pageants of the last 35 years says the spectacle culminating in the advent of their majesties crowned and robed was the most imposing and splendid he ever beheld. The cost of the coronation is estimated at £200,000, which will be covered by the issue of treasury bills. Only 13 newspaper correspondents were allowed inside the cathedral during the ceremony—six Russian, seven foreign, the latter including one English and one American correspondent. The Czar's crown descended from the Emperor Paul and is valued at 200,000 roubles.

St. Petersburg, May 27.
 The coronation of the Czar was celebrated by special services in all the churches to-day, and by parade of troops. The city is brilliantly illuminated to-night and the streets thronged with people. Order prevails. Moscow, May 28.
 The enthusiasm of the people over the successful coronation ceremony is unabated. Crowds constantly assemble under the windows of the Kremlin cheering heartily for the Czar.

EASTERN DISPATCHES.

[PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.]

No News Yet Received from General Crook.

WASHINGTON, May 28.
 The War Department has not yet received any information from Crook. Adjutant-General Drum, however, has received the following dispatch, dated Fort Bliss, near El Paso, May 26: "Nothing authentic yet heard in regard to General Crook. I have daily communication with the Mexican commander at Paso del Norte, who assures me I shall be promptly informed of any news received from military headquarters at Chihuahua. The commanding General of the Mexican forces of Chihuahua has always given me like assurances."

No information of Crook's movements was received at the War Department to-day. General Drum is disposed to credit the report that Crook engaged the Apaches and defeated them. He thinks the stories to the effect that his Indian scouts turned upon and massacred Crook and his command wholly sensational and improbable.

A Report That the Jersey Lily and Her Freddy are to be Married.

WASHINGTON, May 28.
 The Sunday Herald says: The Jersey Lily is to be married to Fredrick Gebhardt in the coming Autumn, by which time she will be free from the bond of matrimony and at liberty to do as she will. A separation will be obtained under the law of New York, which grants divorces for abandonment or desertion for two years. The fair Lily will plead the fact that Langtry has abandoned her and has done nothing towards her support for the period mentioned. There is quite a difference between Mrs. Langtry and Gebhardt in the matter of age, she being about 32 and he 24. Mrs. Langtry made about $50,000, which she now has, above her expenses, and Gebhardt's fortune is rated at $40,000 a year.

A Band of Amazons Defeat a Crowd of Men.

St. Louis, May 28.
 Information from the mining districts of St. Clair county, Ill., is that work was to be resumed to-day at the Rosehill mine, near West Belleville, but when the men were about to commence at 5 o'clock a band of 150 women, wives and daughters of the strikers, marching two abreast and armed with stout clubs, appeared on the scene, and after some altercation they compelled the men to desist, and work was not started. A sheriff's posse was driven back by the women, and the latter are now in possession of the mine.

A Fiendish Attempt to Roast a Whole Family.

St. Louis, May 28.
 A fiendish plot to destroy a whole family is reported from the town of Nelson, Illinois. On Friday night ropes were tied to all the door-knobs of the house of a man named Boyd, and then made fast to trees in the yard. Coal oil was poured on and around the foundation of the house and fired. Boyd was awakened by the noise of the flames, and luckily was able to burst open the doors, and with his wife and children rushed through the flames without harm, but the escape from a terrible death was a very narrow one. It is not known by whom, or for what reason, the devilish deed was committed.

A Woman Perforates Her Husband With a Red-Hot Bayonet.

PITTSBURG, May 28.
 Thomas Welsh was fatally stabbed with a red-hot bayonet to-day by his wife. Welsh, who had been drinking, struck his wife, when she grabbed up the bayonet, which was used as a poker, and stabbed him in the left breast, the bayonet passing through the left lung and coming out at the back. The injured man is still alive, but physicians have no hopes of his recovery.

An Iowa Legislator Afflicted with Jim-Jams.

CHICAGO, May 28.
 At a late hour Friday night a policeman discovered a man wandering among the railroad tracks. The man was evidently out of his mind, saying he was being pursued by the headlights of locomotives and that his enemies were trying to get him run over. He was taken in charge, and it was turned out that he is State Senator Thomas Fisk of Marshall county, Iowa.

Irish and Italians on the War-Path.

NEW YORK, May 28.
 A pitched battle took place to-day between Italians and Irish in Cherry street. Maria Morena was probably fatally injured and Doony Harris and many other combatants slightly. Sticks, stones, stilettos and revolvers were freely used.

A Man Kills the Husband of His Divorced Wife.

STREUNVILLE, O., May 28.
 Two years ago Alexander Mygatt, wife and eight children came from England, settling in Mansfield, Penn. The wife left him on account of abuse, and went to Streunville with John

Bird. She had three daughters and one son with her, Mygatt keeping the four elder children. She married Bird and lived with him. This morning the father and son arrived and asked to see the wife and children. Bird assented, provided he would raise no disturbance. He was calm for a time, when he became abusive and demanded that the woman go back with him. She refused, and Bird took her part. The men went into the yard in the rear of the house, when Mygatt suddenly drew a revolver and shot Bird in the back of the head and instantly killed him. Returning to the house he struck the woman and she fled. Her cries summoned help and Mygatt was arrested.

The Ironworkers' Threatened Strike—Many Mills to be Closed.

PITTSBURG, May 28.
 The situation of affairs between the iron manufacturers and workmen is without marked change, and it is generally believed that a prolonged suspension is inevitable. On Thursday next work will be stopped in all mills which up to that time have not signed the new scale. That the steel mills will continue in operation is generally understood, and it is conceded, also, that a few iron mills will sign the scale. With these exceptions, however, the prospects are that the iron mills of this region and the west will shut down on Friday next, to continue closed for an indefinite period.

One of the Star-Routers Preparing For the Worst.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., May 28.
 A gentleman named Sawyer has arrived from Washington to take charge of all the property of H. M. Vale of star route notoriety. The property consists of a handsome residence that cost $50,000, a large number of blooded stock and extensive wine-cellar. Whether Sawyer is acting as agent or as owner is not known, but the general opinion is that Vale is preparing for the worst.

Another Shipment of Mormons for Utah.

NEW YORK, May 28.
 Some 413 Mormons arrived here from Europe yesterday and started west this morning. The party was made up principally of families, and parents and children, as a rule, all looked healthy. Very nearly all of them were comfortably clad and many children showed bright and intelligent faces.

The PUTNAM CART
 Patented Sept. 14th, 1880.

AMONG THE MANY PACIFIC Coast inventions none have received so much attention or become so popular in so short a time as the cart recently invented and patented by D. C. Putnam of Petaluma, Cal., U. S. A. Although it was originally designed and made for a breaking cart, it almost immediately found favor as a general business vehicle for all purposes where a light rig was wanted for driving, etc. For farm purposes and for children attending school at a distance, physicians, commercial travelers, mail carriers, overseers of ranches, sugar plantations, sheep-herding, livery stables, etc., and indeed for almost any and all purposes where cheapness, convenience and durability are concerned, this vehicle cannot be surpassed. It is light, weighing only 250 pounds; it is easy on the horse, and with the patent foot-board very easy riding, taking the place of the buggy and saddle horse, while the price is so low as to place it within the reach of all, made either with pole or shafts, or both. MIT PUTNAM, the patentee, is in Reno, and will remain one week for the purpose of introducing the cart. He is having six sample carts finished up at the shop of J. L. McFarlin, where the carts will be for sale during this week. Also COUNTY RIGHTS and SHOP RIGHTS for sale. Address, D. W. C. PUTNAM, Reno, Nev. m28w1

NOTICE TO CITIZENS.

I hereby notify all persons not to use any water for irrigating purposes from our pipes between the hours of 12 m. and 6 p. m. This order will be strictly enforced.

DECORATION DAY,

WEDNESDAY.....MAY 30, 1883

MARSHAL'S PROCLAMATION:

THE CEREMONY OF DECORATING the graves of the Nation's Honored dead will be observed by the citizens of Washoe county Nevada, at Reno, on the 30th day of May, A. D. 1883. A cordial invitation to participate is extended to the military and secret benevolent organizations, teachers and children of the public and private schools in the county.

Line of March and Order of Exercises:

The procession will form at 10:30 o'clock A. M., on Virginia street, right resting on second street. The procession will move promptly at 11 o'clock A. M., and observe the following line of march: Down second to Centre, through Centre to Commercial Row, up Commercial Row to Sierra, through Sierra to the Cemetery, where the column will break and decorate the dead heroes' last resting places. At the direction of the Grand Marshal the column will re-form and observe the following line of March: Down Sierra street to Fourth, up Fourth to West, down West to Third, up Third to the Masonic Cemetery, where a like ceremony will be performed, after which the column will re-form and march on to Third street, crossing the railroad track to Commercial Row, thence east to the Nevada Theater, where the procession will disperse.

Organizations intending to participate in the exercises will notify the Marshal in time to be assigned positions in the column. Immediately after the procession disperses appropriate literary exercises will be held at the Nevada Theater.

RUST L. LINDSEY, Grand Marshal. m28w1

JOTTINGS.

The river is booming.
Ice cream every day at the reaching rooms.
Read the Reno Guard notice in another column.
G. W. Wilson is furnishing ice for 50 cents per week.
Dog owners are now worrying about tags for their pets.
This weather brings out perspiration and linen dusters.
The Combs murder case will come up for the second trial June 11.
The Janaschek Company were passengers for San Francisco last night.
Strawberries are now so cheap that everybody can afford to eat them.
The alfalfa crop of Washoe county promises to be unusually large.
Teaming to Modoc, Plumas and Lassen counties Cal., is particularly brisk.
A car-load of fat bees went over to Truckee this morning for Joe Marzen.

D. W. C. Putnam, the Petaluma, Cal., cart man, is in town. Read his ad. and buy a cart.
J. F. Altken calls attention to the 50 cent column. Ice delivered to families for 50 cents per week.
It is said that a married couple in Reno quarrel. If it occurs again the GAZETTE will publish names.
Fraser, the foundryman, has sent one of the Kinkaid quartz-grinders to the Genesee mine, Plumas county.
The west-bound freight train this morning was one of the longest that has passed through Reno for months.
The Reno youth now affects the dude style—tight-fitting trousers, toothpick shoes and variegated necktie.
The Good Templars' picnic at Steamboat on the 9th will be largely attended. Swimming bath free. Tickets $1.

Nasby has received the agency for the celebrated Climax watches. Call and see them. Thermometer at 7, 9, 11, 1 and 3—69, 77, 77, 82, 81.
A large quantity of potatoes are kept over from Washoe's last crop, notwithstanding so many car-loads have been shipped to Sacramento and elsewhere.
Pollard will hereafter keep his market open on Sunday mornings until 10 o'clock, for the reason that the weather is becoming so warm that meat will not keep long.

It is wrong to laugh at the crooked legs of the young man in tight trousers, but it is perfectly proper to laugh at the tight trousers upon the man with crooked legs.
The Northern Belle mining suit will come up in the U. S. Circuit Court June 6th. It will be tried before Judge Field of the U. S. Supreme Court and Judge Sawyer at Carson.

Travel southward is very lively. The country that has been opened up by the Carson and Colorado road is attracting the attention of all classes—mechanics, farmers and prospectors are looking for openings.

Every Monday during the Summer the noon train has 40 minutes allowed for stopping at Steamboat Springs, so that the conductor and all hands may enjoy a bath. This is a great accommodation, and the railroad employees appreciate it.

The nails protruding from the plank sidewalks are a great nuisance to pedestrians, particularly ladies, who frequently tear their dainty little boots. Then they say, "Oh, my!" When a man stubs his toe against one of these spikes he rips out a string oath like a pirate of the Spanish Main.

FAIR WARNING.

Notice to Careless Hunters, Prospectors and Others.
N. C. McFarland, Commissioner of the General Land Office, has issued the following, which hunting parties and others who build fires in the woods will do well to heed: The attention of the public is called to the fact that large quantities of the public timber is annually destroyed by forest fires which, in many cases, originate through the carelessness of hunting, prospecting and other camping parties; while in some instances they occur through design. I take this method of warning all persons that hereafter the cause and origin of all forest fires will be closely investigated, and where the fire is ascertained to have originated through either carelessness or design, the parties implicated will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Special timber agents are hereby directed to proceed against all offenders under the local laws of the State or Territory, relating to the unlawful setting out of fires, in which the same may occur. The public generally are requested to aid the officers of the Government in its efforts to check the evil referred to and in the punishment of all offenders.

TRUCKEE ITEMS.

Scraps of Interest From a Lively Camp.
The following items are clipped from the Republican of May 28:
For the past 10 days Elie Ellen has been confined to his room from the effects of a fall.
An average of 200 pounds of trout are brought from Lake Tahoe daily and shipped below.
A valuable horse belonging to Jos. Marzen dropped dead on the plaza the first of this week.
Already the wood contractors are beginning to stack their wood up alongside the track below town.
The contractors on the Boca log drive have now only about two miles to drive to put them in the pond.
Trout are making their annual pilgrimage up the river. Thus far we have heard of none being caught above Verdi.
Hop Shirley, for the past two years telegraph operator at Prosser Creek, is now stationed at Mill City, Nevada.
During the past month an average of one car-load of ice a day has been shipped from Prosser Creek by the Summit Ice Company. Nearly all of it went to Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.
J. Hoehn & Company will put in about 4,000 cords of railroad wood at Prosser Creek station this season. They now have the most of it cut, and will commence hauling and fluming the first of next week.
John F. Moody will start a daily stage line to the Hot Springs Hotel, Lake Tahoe, as soon as the road can be put in passable condition. The snow has entirely disappeared from the south side of the hill, but for about 400 yards on this side of the summit it is still about two feet deep.
Thursday last one of Billy Irwin's teams made the best time to Tahoe City and back on record. Notwithstanding the bad condition of the roads the trip was made to the lake and back in three hours and 15 minutes. This includes stoppages, which would reduce the actual traveling time to less than three hours. The distance to the lake and back is 26 miles.

The Benefits of Advertising.

The Nevada Transcript says that Grass Valley contains more dead merchants to the square foot than any town on the North American continent, and refers to the columns of the Tidings and Union to demonstrate its statement. A few years ago Grass Valley was one of the most prosperous towns in California. It got so prosperous that the merchants got an idea that they could make money without advertising. When the local papers began to run down, the general idea got abroad that the town was on the decline. San Francisco merchants began to draw the credit strings tighter, and capital avoided it. The town soon got a bad name, and now the merchants are reaping the fruits of their parsimony.

A Good Thing All Around.

Mr. Evans' plan of stopping the use of water for irrigation is already proving beneficial. Nature never showers vegetation when the sun is shining, but it draws a veil of clouds across the face of the blazing sun to protect the tender plants and leaves from its scorching rays. Then it sends a warm rain down upon the just and unjust. Along the coast it sends a soaking dew or fog, but if it does the sun is sure to be hidden, otherwise it would be only half a blessing. To pour water on grass while the sun is shining is contrary to nature, and can do but little, if any good.

Butcher's Blood.

A Truckee man hired another to "mop the sidewalk" with an enemy that he himself could not tackle. The rough "fixed himself" by going to a butcher shop and smearing his hands over with blood. He then returned to his employer and exhibited his bloody hands and claimed the reward, obtaining $20. The people of our neighboring town are very cunning, truly.

WELL TO KNOW.

How to Test the Health of an Animal.
The pulse in horses at rest beats 40 times, and in an ox from 50 to 55 times, and in sheep and pigs about 60 to 80 beats per minute. It may be felt wherever a large artery crosses a bone; for instance—it is generally examined in the horse on the cord which crosses over the bone of the lower jaw in front of its curved position, or on the bony ridge above the eye. And in cattle over the middle of the rib; and in sheep by placing the hand on the left side where the beating of the heart may be felt. Any material variation of the pulse from the figures given above may be considered a sign of disease. If rapid, hard and full it is an indication of high fever or inflammation; if rapid, small and weak, low fever, loss of blood or weakness. If slow the probabilities point to brain disease, and if irregular to heart troubles. This is one of the principal and sure tests of the health of animals.

BUSY AT WORK.

The Commencement of a Lively Lumber Season at Truckee.
Elie Ellen's Truckee saw-mill has been running steadily for the past three weeks. He has now about 700,000 feet of logs in his pond at the mill. The ground is yet too soft to start his logging teams, and back in the timber the snow is still pretty deep in places, but Ellen thinks he will be able to start his logging teams in about two weeks. He has contracted all his lumber to the Truckee Lumber Company, says the Republican, but will probably cut considerable ties during the season. He had contracted to furnish the railroad company 8,000 cords of wood, but the order has been cut down to between 5,000 and 6,000 cords. The mill will not be shut down again till snow flies. A. J. Graham, who in early days was a partner in the lumber business with Ellen in El Dorado county, has charge of the mill.

The Largest Ranch in Texas.
The largest ranch in Texas is that of C. Goodnight, located at the head of Red river. He began buying land four years ago, securing 270,000 acres at 35 cents per acre. In the meantime the price has advanced from $1 to $2 per acre, but he is still buying, and now controls 700,000 acres. To inclose his landed possessions 250 miles of fencing is required. Goodnight has a herd of 40,000 cattle.

Agricultural Association Directors.
The Board of Directors of Plumas, Lassen, Sierra and Modoc County Agricultural Association, District No. 11, is now as follows: E. V. Spencer, C. H. Lawrence, John McBeth, W. D. Elletcher, A. J. Ford, John Hardgrave, D. R. Cate and D. D. Newman. Sierra and Lassen have one each, Plumas has six, and five of the six are residents of Indian Valley.

The digestive organs weakened and worn out by using cathartics, relieved by using Brown's Iron Bitters.

The Comstock Alive Again.
Times are living up on the Comstock. Some of the old-time activity is again visible. Many men have been put to work in the mines lately and the long faces of the merchants and property-holders who couldn't get away are becoming round and smiling.

An Opium Den Raided.
Saturday night officers Mershon and Green invaded an opium joint at Tar Flat and captured Polly Cunningham and a man who gave his name as "Cokekney." They also seized the tools used by those who "hit the pipe."

Soldiers' Attention.
Officers and Members of Reno Guard—You are hereby ordered to be at the company's armory on this (Monday) evening in uniform. By order of T. F. LAYCOCK, First Lieutenant.
E. C. McLELLAN, Orderly Sergeant.

Ladies' Attention.
The ladies who expect to contribute flowers for Decoration Day are requested to bring them to Armory Hall in Odd Fellows building to-morrow evening or Wednesday morning.

Saddle Horses Wanted.
Col. Chamberlain of the U. S. army will be at Lee's stable till June 1st, to purchase cavalry horses. An advertisement in another column tells what kind of horses are required.

Cavalry Horses.
Over 100 head of horses have been shipped from this place by Colonel Chamberlain for cavalry use in Arizona.

A CARD.

To the Citizens of Reno:

I HAVE BEEN A RESIDENT OF your town for three years, and, outside of my own business, have not seen a decent pair of boots that were made here. In order, therefore, to extend to everyone facilities for obtaining really first-class boots and shoes, I have sent to San Francisco for two A. No. 1 mechanics, the best to be found in the country, and will run (as heretofore) a prime, first-class shop. The enlargement of my stock and facilities will entail heavy extra expense, and I look and trust, therefore, to Reno's citi- zens and the people generally who are de- sirous of obtaining the very best of work- manship, to aid me with their increased patronage. First-class material, first-class workmanship and first-class work at living rates is the motto on my coat-of-arms. Edm FRED FAYOLA.
